PASCAR Clinical Research Training Task Force – Research Methods

Cohort Studies in Africa

1-day Seminar
14 November 2022
University of Cape Town

Join us at the next PASCAR Clinical Research Training Seminar to be held at the Cape Heart Institute at University of Cape Town on 14 November 2022. This full-day in-person seminar will focus on the conduct of Cohort Studies in Africa and will cover in four sessions on the principles of study design, regulatory aspects of clinical research, data management & analysis. Funding opportunities and examples of pan African cohort studies will give insight into current projects on the continent. This 1-day seminar will require a registration fee of USD100 payable to PASCAR and you would need to self-fund travel and accommodation if needed.

This course is intended for cardiologists, specialist physicians, scientists, or cardiology fellows with a day-to-day interest in cardiovascular research.
